Several have come forward and there are sign up sheets at the information table for people to sign up for a specific group according to time and date available. Groups will be limited to 10 people, and the hosts are asked to provide drinks and a light snack. “Filled with rich historical details and intriguing, fully-realized characters, Under the Same Blue Sky is the captivating story of one woman’s emergence into adulthood amid the tumult of war.

The story begins in 1905 with the first recollections of a young teenage girl Hazel who dreams about a past that her parents said she never had. Until one day a name is mentioned and a story begins to unfold. Her story tells of the sadness and fears of the German ex-pats some who have lived in America for decades or even a generation and are trying to live through the WW1, the prejudices of their neighbors, the returning young men, so changed from when they marched off, and the thousands who never did come home or who came home only to be struck by the 1918 influenza, some even to perish before they got off the ship.”
